I. Concise, concrete description of personal feat of arms or merits

Comrade Uksusov, working in the Headquarters of the Belorussian Partisan Movement since December 1942, has devoted great attention to keeping records of the personnel of the partisan detachments of Belarus. In a short period, short staffed in the department, he carried out colossal work on establishing a record database of partisans, and on processing lists received from detachments and brigades. In total he created records for approximately 50 thousand partisans.

He is responsive to the inquiries and complaints from the families of partisans in regard to drawing up documents for benefit payments, as well as searches for [missing] partisans. He processes documents in a cultured and professional manner. He is respectful in addressing partisans and their families. He is disciplined, demanding of himself and his subordinates. He commands authority among his comrades. He is politically developed, ideologically mature. He is devoted to the Party of Lenin and Stalin and the Socialist Motherland.

Deserves the government award the Order of the Red Star.

I. Concise, concrete description of personal feat of arms or merits

Comrade Uksusov has served in the partisan movement system since October 1942 in the positions of assistant chief, senior assistant chief, and subsequently deputy chief of the personnel department. During his period of service, Comrade Uksusov has proven himself a hardworking, competent, and disciplined worker. He has carried out a great deal of work on records, awardings, and conferral of ranks for partisan cadres. He works on selecting partisan cadres and is responsive to the inquires and needs of the partisans. He quickly and correctly makes selections of and deploys leadership cadres, and through his labor has significantly facilitated the development of the partisan movement in Belarus.

As a fully trained officer, Comrade Uksusov skillfully educates and directs his subordinates.

He is politically and morally stalwart and educated. He is respectful and social in interactions with comrades. He is tidy and fit in appearance.

He is devoted to the cause of the Party of Lenin and Stalin.

He fully merits awarding of the Medal "Partisan of the Patriotic War" 1st Class.
